School Improvement Planning (SIP) can be an overwhelming task – there are many models to use, vast amounts of research to review, and little time to complete this important task. As a result, it can be a burdensome task to already over worked educators – but it doesn't have to be this way! Join Dick Spohr in this workshop where he will walk you and your fellow team members through a simple, practical approach to School Improvement Planning. This model uses your school's data to inform visioning, determine current reality, and guide the development of a functional school improvement plan. Data management issues and practical tools to help you implement your plan will also be addressed. (PK-13)

Your learning objectives include:

- Increase your understanding of the elements of effective school improvement planning.
- Develop skills in the management and use of data for visioning, profiling, and planning.
- Apply research to improvement planning at your school.
- Develop a framework to align student improvement goals, intervention strategies, and professional development at your school.
- Create implementation and monitoring procedures for your school improvement plan.
